I have a mum there, I receive photos from my siblings all the time, every time the family go to see her she and all the other residents are very clean, the rooms are always clean, it does not smell like a nursing home at all, and the carers are so understanding towards her, mum jokes with them and they acknowledge her, even the cleaners, and the Christmas Party was amazing, well organized, thank you. I walk away from mum with peace of mind that she is safe . Thank you so much

My Dad was in High Care, He was in Genista at Greystanes NSW. Having to put your Parent into care is a hard thing to do. When I first made enquires at Gensita they made me feel very at ease, explaining every thing. I never had to question what and how they were caring for my father. I could call in there at any time of day, and the facility was clean, the staff always pleasant, If dad wasn't well they would always let me know and each time I visited they would inform me as to what and how he had been in the week. I never had the feeling that the staff didn't want to be there looking after the old or sick people. Staff always making me feel welcome to see my dad. Dad has since past but I still occasionally drop in and still are made feel welcome, in particular by Deb and Sister Jean. I recommend Genista to all. I even say that I should put my name down now as there is a long waiting list.

The building is older than I would have liked, but the staff are so caring. They made the transition so easy for my father in law. He feels loved and cared for which is a great relief for the family. They have lots of functions and entertainment for the patients and their families, The pressure and confusion we have been through has been taken care of knowing he is well looked after.
