My father's physical needs are reasonably well met He is generally clean .shaved and his incontinence is well managed For this I am grateful His mental needs are however sadly neglected He is generally left propped in his room with no stimulation There are no outings or excursions offered There is a sign stating 'today is ...'but in this facility it can be thursday for a week Some individuals do try but despite us saying repeatedly that the one tv show he enjoys is songs of praise it has never once been turned on for him unless we come and do it We can only do it if we can find his tv remote which has invariably been mislaid by another wandering resident It is a sad and lonely existence and we are sorry that at this stage it is all we can offer
