Many of my choices were ticked as average The carers looking after my mother were exceptional and took excellent care of her (Within the limitations of staffing etc) The last months of my mothers life were very distressing as a result of an over bearing manager who we had to fight with tooth and nail. Her attitude to my mother and the decisions that she felt she could make were outrageous. We stood firm and managed after a lot of heart ache and stress to get an appropriate outcome. We felt we were not just acting for our mother but all the other vulnerable people who had no one to support them. The organisation did respond after much persistence from my family. Changes for everyone came about and the manager left.

The family have been very happy with the care shown toward our parents by the many exceptional staff.
