My husband spent 10 days in St. Judes whilst I had a break! not sure how he went! the only thing I am disappointed with is that he lost his favorite Brown Suede Jacket which he was wearing when we dropped him off! all his other clothes were labeled! Hopefullt it will turn up.

Not enough Staff to cover all Section, especially in the afternoon and at night, I have seen resident begging for help,Nobody at their station to assist.Also to assist with feeding and showering, Entertainment in the facility is also very poor,Repeating over and over,Same goes for the Menus which is very bland and poor quality.I have asked for a Weekly menus to be displayed or put in the rooms several times.It will also be nice to clean and disinfect the room on a regular Basis,So many times I have cleaned My parents dirty bathroom and changed smelly Bedsheets nicely covered.On the positive side,The facility is very new and some of the staffs there are very helpful.If only St Judes had more to cover all Areas.

Most of the staff lovely. Only takes one bad one though to mess up your mood.

My father in law was transferred here from another aged care facility where the care was not very good. St Judes was welcoming, and on the 1st day he was so happy with the attention and activities he told us to go home. We found the staff friendly but would have like to see their name badges more visibly seen. The manager and care co-ordinator went out of their way to visit the residents and get to know them. The meals looked well presented and he seemed to enjoy them, there was a lot of variety. Activities were excellent, and they even took him on short bus trips. The only things I found with quality were he occasionally missed being shaved, or his clothing went missing. But otherwise no problems
