At first in 2004 I was very relieved that a place was found for my mother, who was in her 90s and dementia had a grip on her. I picked on the staff of the establishment for not doing every little things for her. I never missed their lunch and dinner time to feed my mum myself. Going there nearly everyday opened my eyes to the fact that the people who work and run these facilities are part angels and human at the same time. I got attached to three facilities after that - one with my mother's stay and the other two when my better-half answered Gods calling and started working and caring for aged and in-need people. She is still engaged in one facility near our home. God bless the Nurses and Nursing Homes for without them it would be miserable for people who need help to exist.
